Telenity Receives HP Software Partner of the Year Award for the Fourth Consecutive Time

Monroe, CT – December 10, 2008 – Telenity (www.telenity.com), a leading provider of next generation converged services platforms and applications for communications networks, announced today that it has won the HP Software Partner of the Year Award at this year's HP Communications World Conference held in Vienna, Austria on December 9-11. This is the fourth year Telenity is honored for being an exceptional partner with regards to business expansion, joint engagement and revenue commitment.

The annual award, now in its 11th year, recognizes partners in Europe, the Middle East and Africa (EMEA) who have demonstrated outstanding commitment to HP Software and HP Communications and Media Solutions (CMS) business group. The Partner of the Year Awards honor partners that have excelled in sales, customer support, implementation and joint solution development to meet individual customer needs and to help grow revenue. This year's awards are presented at the HP Communications World Conference in Vienna on December 9-11.

The long time partnership between HP and Telenity is established to deliver messaging and value added service platforms not only for today's but also for next generation's networks around the world. Telenity and HP OpenCall have been working successfully on major projects and grown their joint installed base with new and innovative solutions.

The 2008 Partner of the Year Award recognizes Telenity's successful expansion of HP OpenCall based Canvas[®] SMSC deployment at a large operator in Turkey. This SMSC deployment is one of the largest in the region. Telenity is also recognized for further managing to incrementally expand its business with several other service providers of interest to the operators in EMEA, and Common Wealth of Independent States (CIS) regions. Telenity has also successfully
